Answering machine for android phone

Answering machine phones. Answering machine on android. How to set up an answering machine on android.

I think there is no need for root. I am focusing to make it work on Oreo 8.1 (SDK27). If it works on Oreo, it can easily work on 5.0+ devices. The main problem is that each manufacturer sets Android audio policy in a different way. Hehe ignore my app for the anomalous secretariat? A voices self-art and recording it and therefore shows all the recorded files is not exactly that I call "vocal voice" because the caller was unable to understand what to do when the item is established without any vocal education. I think an alternative can be to deviate the call to a mailbox a VoIP service or a response service on the conventional phone. I wonder if N8 can do it ...? This is a call to the community of Android developers. It also can record a call (coming, out or both) without acoustic signals. (Starting now I am not integrating them into mine, but later, if possible, I could create a single autonomous app.) Unfortunately because of my exams I may not continue my job for a month. When Android took over, I still brought my Symbian phone due to the availability of a answering machine app. I don't want to facilitate Facebook in motion, I want to facilitate the travel phone. The developer prefers the dev game because it is useful for the visual secretariat. This because they have been able to send a sound directly to the caller ... 3) perhaps this is a limitation of the hardware because the app can deactivate your microphone when the answering machine is performed (so that the receiver can only hear the voice of your secretariat). Reactions: The Zetal and MotoxManiac Sony Xperia Z series has incorporated the answering machine ... more to consume an Irin.com I searched on Goolge, XDA and many other Android forums but they cannot find a secretarial app for Android. Someone guides me , but I can't find an autonomous app that does it. I really hope someone can understand it ... maybe it's not possible. I will be your first customer and I prepare to pay well for this! Reactions: The metal and Abability Abbily Have you tried to Temail from the Android market? It would be something to publish in the Android section of XDA not in the vibrant section. I'm looking for this too. Sony seems to have excluded through hardware/software to reproduce the vocal message to the caller while there is an active voice call. I was looking for this app for a long time. I would like to reproduce my personalized voice message to the caller saying "Hi, I am currently busy but you can leave me a message after the acoustic signal". I bet you can sell it for 5euros (or more) easily in the Play Store. No more calls unattended by unknown numbers. Please build an app with such a usability, collecting things where Ivcm stopped. I asked the developers team and they told me it's not possible on Android. In this way the caller is informed about what to do. Because as far as I remember ... I seriously think Symbians was the smartphone, not Androids. Each manufacturer can change his mind/configuration (in the future) and stops the app. Listening to you, if the fragmentation of Android gave me nightmare, then I imagine that I was holding it for me. Greetings: Well: reactions: vijaypatildcz2 hello, I am working on the creation of an app that works as offline vowel depends on what you mean by "offline vocal mail". I asked the developer to continue his great job. Recording a voice is always possible (so far) and there are already many apps that do it. I don't think there is a partner last modification: on May 21, 2016 the app for incoming calls is the solution for me bye, I was looking for it too. But I don't know how to do it. That you are looking for functional blocks of improved calls or a phone that can archive all your contacts, these devices provide a solution that meets your needs. I would like to play my message Personalized to the caller saying "Hi, I am currently busy but you can leave me a message after the acoustic signal". with as a mod of mod. mod. Some apps with Whitelist, Blacklist, unknown, programmer to be used at specific times and days. If a little of God can bring this, they will be great and I am ready to pay. Or visual secretariat as someone mentioned before. You also recorded the voice message after the acoustic signal. But this seems that someone is trying, so congratulations for the developer. So if you guys also try to contact the developer (through the contact information on the market) perhaps continue? The same soft exists for Android, so I tried it, but no answering machine on the Android version. I had the answering machine for the Autopilot app on my N82 (perhaps it was now abandoned). It is simple as the PPLs are not simply aware of it, but if they are shown, PPL vorr's this instead of the simple vocal message of the slow and painful telephone company. I use a Galaxy S3 with the cyanogen installer version. From the answering machine I mean the app that behaves as a answering machine that lies on the phone- I can see many answering machine apps that automatically respond to calls via default SMS
